

Professional Qualifications of Deborah M. Adasiak, CVA

Deborah Adasiak is a business valuator. She holds a CVA, Certified Valuation Analyst, issued by the National Association of Certified Valuators & Analysts.

She concentrates her practice area in the valuation of closely held businesses and professional practices and has been intimately involved with these types of entities for over 20 years. She was a senior manager for the Business Valuation Services group at Miller, Cooper & Co., for over 17 years. Prior to joining Miller, Cooper & Co., Ltd., Ms. Adasiak served as a senior manager in the Business Valuations group for Blackman Kallick Bartelstein, LLP, a Chicago-based accounting and consulting firm that primarily serviced entrepreneurial closely held businesses.

Ms. Adasiak's valuation and consulting experience includes valuation of business enterprises, equities and intangible assets for gift and estate tax purposes, marital dissolution, and acquisitions and divestitures. She is actively involved in all aspects of the valuation process, from research and analysis, to the investigation of industry and economic trends impacting the business. She also provides litigation support. She has reviewed and critiqued expert reports and consulted on the preparation of buy/sell agreements. Ms. Adasiak has determined stock values for buy/sell agreements and provided litigation support. Her experience spans a variety of industries, including manufacturing, distribution, retail, construction, and professional services.

Ms. Adasiak holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from University of Illinois at Chicago Circle and has also received extensive training from various organizations in the field of Business Valuation. She is a member of the Illinois CPA Society, The Business Valuation Association (BVA), and The National Association of Certified Valuation Analysts (NACVA).